TEN CENTS A WEEK

THE GRAND CANYON

SOME OF THE WONDERS OF THIS VAST WILD FREAK OF NATURE.

Comparisons Which Will Give Some Idea of Its Enormous Proportions. The Age of the Terrific Trough a Mystery to the Scientists.

Grand canyon guides are oftentimes as much startled as was Mark Twain's conductor who showed him the statue of Christopher Columbus. After the American humorist had heard his guide dilate on the greatness of the man who discovered the new world he calmly asked if Columbus was dead.

A Philadelphia man after his first glimpse of the canyon put this question to his guide:

"If our city hall was put down there, how high would the top reach above ground?"

"What is the height of your city hall?" asked the guide. The Philadelphia man grew red in the face. He was disgusted with the guide's ignorance. He stamped his foot and shouted:

"Why, man alive, don't you know? That wonderful building! Listen! The hat of the great statue of William Penn on its top is 547 feet from the street. Think of that, sir!"

"Do you see that crack in the rocks down there?" asked the guide, pointing to a distant crevice which looked no bigger than an open sewer ditch. "Well, you could drop three of your city halls one on top of another into that crack and not know where they went."

Some New Yorkers unfamiliar with the bigness of western things cause the guides equal amusement. One of them, who afterward admitted he had never been above Fourteenth street before he inherited the fortune he had since been "blowing in" on travel, asked, if the Grand canyon was as long as the Bowery.

In self defense, therefore, the canyon guides formulated a number of comparisons between the biggest hole in the world and other objects with which visitors from the east and elsewhere are more familiar. The guides spring these facts as soon as they can. It has the effect, they say, of heading off a lot of idle questions and thus saving a tremendous amount of breath, of which the average tourist who tries to see the canyon on foot soon finds himself sadly in need.

The guides say, for example, that if the Eiffel tower, which, with a height of 984 feet, is the tallest structure in the world, were placed at the bottom of the canyon in its deepest part five more towers just like the first would have to be piled on top of one another to reach the rim of the plateau. Eleven Washington monuments superimposed would just about equal the depth of the gorge.

If it were possible to build four St. Peter's, four Strassburg cathedrals and four pyramids of Cheops, all of them would be needed, piled one on the other, to reach from the canyon's bottom to its top. The skyscrapers of New York would fairly be lost in the "big hole." The Singer building, with its tower reaching to the height of 594 feet, would reach one-tenth the distance from the bed of the Colorado river to the edge of the Arizona plateau. The depth of the canyon about equals sixteen Park Row buildings or seventeen such structures as the one known as 60 Wall street.

In length the canyon, if transferred to the Atlantic coast, would extend from New York city to Washington. If a tight rope performer tried to cross it at its widest point he would have to walk a distance equal to that from the Battery to the northernmost limit of the Bronx, or about fifteen miles. Could the canyon be filled in for a building site it would furnish room enough for fifty New York cities. Indeed, it would have an area of 16,000 square miles, equal to the whole of Switzerland or the states of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island combined.

Were a canal of the size of the Panama canal to be dug in the Grand canyon it would appear hardly larger than a baby ribbon to a spectator on the rim. It is estimated that to obtain enough earth to fill the Grand canyon it would be necessary to excavate 20,000 Panama canals.

Yet when it comes to the age of the canyon the guides admit they have no way of satisfying the questioning tourist. It is not enough to say that the Colorado river originated in the early tertiary period as the outlet of a great ocean lake and that it has persisted over since. The materialistic man of business wants figures and dates. From the geologists the guides can obtain no relief. As Clarence Edward Dutton, one of the leading geological authorities of this country, has said:

"The question will often be asked, How long has been the time occupied in the excavation of the grand canyon? Unfortunately there is no mystery more inscrutable than the duration of geological time. On this point geologists have obtained no satisfactory results in any part of the world. Whatever periods may have been assigned to the antiquity of past events have been assigned provisionally only, and the inferences are almost purely hypothetical. In the plateau country nature has in some respects been more communicative than in other regions and has answered many questions far more fully and graciously. But here, as elsewhere, whenever we interrogate her about time other than relative her lips are sternly closed and her face becomes as the face of the sphinx."

For the reason that the Grand Canyon of the Colorado bursts on the view of the traveler as if the earth before his feet suddenly caved in for more than a mile it is not wonderful that he should ask questions that to the learned seem childish. As he approaches its rip by railroad he sees only the Arizona desert apparently stretching away on every side, a dreary expanse, for illimitable distances.

"There is no preparation for it," says Charles F. Lummis, the author and explorer, in describing his first sensations on visiting the canyon. "Unless you had been told you would no more dream that out yonder amid the pines the flat earth is slashed to its very bowels than you would expect to find an iceberg in Broadway. With a very ordinary running jump from the spot where you get your first glimpse of the canyon you could go down 2,000 feet without touching. It is sudden as a well."

"But it is no mere cleft. It is a terrific trough peopled with hundreds of peaks taller than any mountain east of the Rockies, yet not one of them with its head so high as your feet, and all ablaze with such color as no eastern or European landscape ever knew, even in the Alpenglouw. And as you sit upon the brink the divine scene shifts give you a new canyon every hour. With each degree of the sun's course the great countersunk mountains we have been watching fade away, and new ones, as terrific, are carved by the westerling shadows. It is like a dissection of the whole cosmogony. The purple shadows, the dazzling lights, the thunderstorms and snowstorms, the clouds and the rainbows shift and drift in that vast subterranean arena below your feet."—New York Tribune.

An Old Roman Mint.
A completely equipped Roman mint was discovered in a cave in the neighborhood of Kayosovar, Hungary. Besides crucibles, which still contained bronze, there were three dies for the production of gold coins, dies of silver, bronze and iron ore and 300 coins. The investigation made showed that the workshop dated from the first century of the Christian era. A number of neatly worked earrings, bracelets and other objects of bronze, as well as tools, such as hammers and tongs, were also found.

The Yankee in German Eyes.
The Yankees are a joyous people. They are before everything optimists. Why should they not be? They dwell in a spacious land full of the treasures of the earth. They are not overladen with knowledge, but learn for practice, and during the greater part of the year a blue heaven stretches over them. For all those reasons the Yankees may well laugh. The Americans are, moreover, born humorists.—Berlin Woche.

Her Cost.
Young Jobson is of an exceedingly statistical turn of mind. He got married lately, and at the railway station he had his wife weighed; then he took out a little hand book and made some calculations, muttering: "Wedding expenses, —; railway expenses, —; divide by —. I say, my dear, you have cost me exactly fourpence halfpenny a pound."—London Tit-Bits.

Not That Strap.
"Why don't you get up and give that seat to your father, Bobby?" reprimanded the woman. "Doesn't it pain you to see him reaching for a strap?"
"Not on a train," chuckled Bobby.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Traitors are hated even by those they favor.—Tacitus.

NO FAITH IN PHYSIC.

Queen Elizabeth Refused Medicine in Her Last Illness.

Of the efficacy of physic Queen Elizabeth had always been skeptical. Now, ten or twelve physicians came to the palace, each promising, "with all manner of asseveration," "her perfect and easy recovery" if she would follow a simple course of treatment. But they spoke in vain. Nor could the protests of counsellors, divines and waiting women induce her to accept medical assistance. Her melancholy was "settled and irremovable," and she had no wish to prolong it by lengthening out her life. She only broke silence to murmur, "I am not sick, I feel no pain, and yet I pine away." She was asked whether she had any secret cause of grief. She replied that she knew of nothing in the world worthy of troubling her. At length by force (it is said) she was lifted from the cushions and put to bed. Her condition underwent no change. Gradually those about her realized that "she might live if she would use means," but that she would not be persuaded, and prices, as they tearfully acknowledged, cannot be coerced. Nevertheless until the third week they looked forward to a renewal of her old vivacity and the dispersal of her lethargy. But during the week it was perceived that the ground she had lost could only be recovered by miracle.

On Wednesday, March 23, her counsellors entered her bedchamber to receive her last instructions. She had none to give. The archbishop and bishops offered up prayer at her bedside, and she derived some comfort from their ministrations. In the evening she sank into a quiet sleep, such as she had sought without avail for nearly a month. She never woke again. "About 3 o'clock in the morning of March 24 she departed this life mildly, like a lamb; easily, like a ripe apple from the tree." When she was examined after death her physicians reported that "she had a body of firm and perfect constitution, likely to have lived many years." Death was, in fact, prepared to the last to bargain with her for a few more years of life, but his terms implied an enfeeblement of those faculties on whose unrestricted exercise her queenly fame seemed to her to depend. By refusing to be party to the truce she invited her overthrow, but she never acknowledged herself vanquished. She made no will, she bestowed no gift on any of the faithful attendants who wept beside her deathbed, and she declined to guide her council in the choice of a successor.—Cornhill Magazine.

An Infernal Drink.
A joke was played on Arthur Balfour on the first St. Patrick's day of his tenure of the Irish chief secretaryship. A cigar box, delivered to him at the house of commons, contained a bunch of shamrocks. "From a sincere Irish admirer." But, to the terror of his secretaries, the box was also found to contain a wicked looking steel spring covered with a queer white compound. A chemical expert was called, and he examined the "infernal machine," everybody momentarily expecting an explosion. The puzzled chemist, venturing to put a particle of the compound on his tongue, found that it was simply sugar impregnated with lemon. He then turned the box upside down and out rolled a rusty corkscrew, a spiral spring and an old nutmeg grater. There was also a scrap of paper inscribed: "Buy the whisky yourself. You can then concoct the famous lemonade of Ballyhooley and drink to ould Ireland."—Bohemian.

The Wild Buffalo.
Of huge bulk, great endurance and remarkable vitality, able to move quickly and turn sharply, and endowed with such vitality as enables it to charge its enemies even after receiving a mortal wound, the physical qualities alone of the buffalo would render it a most formidable opponent. But to its giant strength and bulk there must be added its innate hostility to the white man, its ferocity, its love for its young and in a fight a high order of cunning that will upset the best laid plans.—Hamilton Wright in Wilde World Magazine.

A Loophole.
"But, Tommy," said his mother, "didn't your conscience tell you you were doing wrong?"
"Yes'm," replied Tommy, "but I don't believe everything I hear."—Philadelphia Press.

Oblivion is the flower that grows best on graves.—George Sand.

WALT WHITMAN.

Ways of the Poet Who Was Loved by All Who Knew Him.

This is the Walt Whitman who was known and loved by those who met him daily:

"After some conversation Whitman proposed a walk across to Philadelphia. Putting on his gray slouch hat, he walked forth with evident leisure and, taking my arm as a support, walked slowly the best part of a mile to the ferry. Crossing the ferry was always a great pleasure to him. The life of the street and of the people was so near, so dear. The men on the ferry steamer were evidently old friends, and when we landed on the Philadelphia side we were before long quite together—the man or woman selling fish at the corner of the street, the tramway conductor, the loaves on the pavement, a word of news from West of us, often from the other best people, a cheery shout from the top of a draft, and before we had gone many yards farther the driver was down and standing in front of us, his legs given to the care of some tyro. He was an old Broadway regular, and not seen Walt for three or four years, and tears were in his eyes as he held his hand. We were now brought to a standstill, and others gathered round. George was ill, and Walt must go and see him. There was a message for the children, and in his pocket the poet carried one or two packets of almost blue oves. But for the most part his words were brief. It was the others who spoke and apparently without reserve."—Whitman as Carpenter Saw Him in Craftsman.

A CRUEL ENDING

The Lonely Death and Desecrated Grave of Laurence Sterne.

Laurence Sterne, the great writer, was left alone in his rooms on Bond street, London, in those last bitter days, with a servant of the lodging house for his only attendant. As he lay dying a knock was heard at the door and a footman entered, come from a house near by to inquire as to his health.

The footman waited till the end, saw the thin arm raised as if to ward off a blow and heard the almost inarticulate murmur from white lips, "Now it is come!"

Then he went back to the house, where a large party was gathered, and told the news to the feasters, most of whom were Sterne's friends. For the space of half an hour they lamented him, and then the talk turned on other things—so soon are we forgotten in this workaday world.

"Alas, poor Yorick!" His publisher and a single friend followed him to the tomb, while ghouls watched outside and marked the spot where he was laid. Two nights afterward the body was stolen, shipped to Cambridge and placed, strangely enough, upon the dissecting table at his own university. A friend recognized his features and fainted away when it was too late to stop the desecration.—Myrtle Reed in Book News Monthly.

The Typewriter.

Although he was not the first to devise a machine for typewriting, John Pratt won the distinction of inventing the first working typewriter that secured a sale. He was born in Unionville, S. C., on April 14, 1831, and in 1864, with his wife, he went to England, Pratt devoting his time to the invention of a mechanism which he designated the "perotype," the first practical typewriter. Provisional protection to the invention was granted by the British government in February, 1864, and on Dec. 1, 1866, letters patent No. 3163 were granted to Pratt. On returning to the United States, in 1868, he secured letters patent in this country. Mr. Pratt was the first inventor of a machine in which a type wheel was moved by key levers, and he was the first man to make and sell typewriters, having sold several in London in 1867.

Old English Elections.

As an illustration of the violence that was once common during political campaigns in England is a quaint bill from a lawyer after an election at Andover in 1768: "To being thrown out of the George inn, Andover, to my legs being thereby broken, to surgeon's bill and loss of time and business, £500."

The Purchasing Agent.

"Dad," asked Bobby, "what is biology?"
"Go ask your mother," replied dad curtly. "She spends the most money."—Harper's Weekly.

BLUEBEARD.

Two Different Stories as to Who Was the Original.

Like many of the other heroes of the nursery tales, Bluebeard once lived in the flesh and blood, if the old chronicler Holinshed, from whom Shakespeare got so much of his material, is to be believed. According to that writer, the original Bluebeard was Gilles de Retz or de Raz, marquis of Laval, who became marshal of France in 1420. He is described as an impious and debauched man, a devotee of the black art, who enticed young men and women to his castle and killed them in order to obtain innocent blood for his magical enchantments and who also murdered six or seven of his wives. His crimes were discovered, and he was burned at the stake in 1440 at Nantes.

According to an old French legend, however, the original Bluebeard lived in Brittany in the sixth century and was known as Count Conomer. After seven of his wives had disappeared he became enamored of Triphyna, the daughter of Count Guereck of Vannes. The wedding was celebrated at Vannes, and Conomer took his bride home.

Before a year had passed Triphyna noticed a change in her husband's manner, and, fearing the same fate that had met her predecessors, she fled from the castle, but was overtaken by Conomer, who struck off her hand with a single blow. St. Gildas, by whom the unfortunate wife had been educated, happened to pass the spot soon after, and, seeing the body, he tenderly replaced the head and by prayer restored Triphyna to life. The story does not relate the end of Conomer.

PHYSICAL EXERCISE.

Effect of Boxing on the Mental and Moral Faculties.

Boxing is an exercise which is not only of the most marked benefit in a purely physical way, but it is of the utmost value as a means of training the mental and moral faculties. One of the most unfortunate whimsicalities of our very whimsical day is the prejudice against boxing as a sport and exercise. There is no sport in which there is provided such splendid exercise for body and mind and spirit as in boxing.

The physical influence of boxing is superb. Every muscle and organ is brought into active use. So far as mentality is concerned, the perception, imagination, judgment, discretion, self confidence, aggressiveness and will are all brought into active and rapid use. The boxer who fails in perceiving his opponent's intention, who misses in judging the power or reach of his blow, who is lacking in self confidence, will power or aggressiveness, who fails for one moment to remember all the weak points of the man against whom he is working—that boxer is likely to fail, to lose what we all value—that is, reputation, public confidence and income. Among the many sports and games which are of value in training the mind I place boxing as by all means the most valuable.—W. R. C. Latson, M. D., in Outing Magazine.

An Extraordinary Migration.

One of the greatest mysteries to scientists, one for which there seems to be no reasonable explanation, is that concerning the migration of the lemming, or Norway rat. Instead of taking place once a year, these migrations occur only once in eleven years. When the time comes for the exodus the little animals journey westward from Scandinavia, allowing nothing to stop their movements, which virtually amount to a headlong flight. They swim the lakes and rivers and climb the highest mountains in incalculable numbers, devastating the whole country through which they travel. Naturalists attribute the movement to some inherited memory of a flight to escape an expected cataclysm, but this seems somewhat far fetched.

A Half Length Picture.

A countryman bargained with a California photographer for a half length picture of himself at half price, and when the artist delivered a fine view of the subject from the waistband down the victimized sitter indulged in remarks more forcible than polite.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

NEWS OF CITY AND COUNTY CONDENSED

Mrs. M. E. Worsley of Manor, Ga., is in the city, a guest of her sister, Mrs. C. O. Cagle.

W. J. Hodge of Alachua was in the city yesterday. He reports a fine rain in his section Sunday.

W. F. Grissom of Rochelle and B. W. Waite of Hawthorn were among the visitors to this city yesterday.

Henry Curtis of Jacksonville, industrial agent of the Seaboard Air Line, was in the city in the interest of his line yesterday.

J. S. Griner of Lake Butler, Bradford county, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the United States land office.

Mrs. Chas. Eddy, Misses Minnie and Bessie Eddy, and Mrs. W. A. Paulsen, all of Orange Heights, were shopping in the city yesterday.

Hon. Henry S. Chubb left for Jacksonville yesterday, having been called on important political business. He will be absent a couple of days.

C. C. Cagle, one of the clever salesmen of the Gainesville Furniture Company, made a trip to Rocky Point in the interest of his firm yesterday.

J. M. Turner, Jr., formerly of this city but now of Jacksonville, spent a few hours with friends here yesterday. He left in the afternoon for Newberry.

L. W. Jackson has returned from a business trip to Cedar Key and other points in Levy county. He reports the people of that section prosperous.

J. A. Crews, the efficient traveling representative of Florida's great daily, The Times-Union, after a few days spent in this section, left yesterday for Daytona, where he will attend the great automobile races. Mr. Crews gives evidence of prosperity.

Dr. E. H. Armstrong, the famous eye specialist of Jacksonville, arrived in the city yesterday, and has established headquarters at the Brown House. Dr. Armstrong is one of the South's most noted specialists, and has an extensive and successful practice. He will remain here only today.

R. A. Smith of Hawthorn is one of the farmers of the county who believes in raising plenty of the necessities of life. He sent to cold storage yesterday 1,400 pounds of meat, which makes a total of 4,000 pounds he has placed on cold storage so far this season. He will have all the meat he can use at home, and an abundance to sell.

Among the prominent visitors to this city yesterday was Eugene Oberdorfer, formerly of Jacksonville but now making his headquarters in Atlanta, where he is resident manager of the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York. Mr. Oberdorfer is well known and popular throughout this section, and his friends were glad to welcome him again.

The contract has been let for the roof of the First Presbyterian Church to Contractor Buie of Jacksonville, who had the contract for the roofing on the buildings of the University of

Thousands Have Kidney
Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Florida, and who is one of the most widely known contractors in the State. The material called for in the specifications is galvanized iron, and the new roof is to be equipped with bat-proof cornices, which will prevent the nuisance and destruction of bats being harbored under the eaves and other convenient places.

EARNST WORKERS SUPPER.

Judge Carlisle's Fish Chowder Attracted Many Residents.

The mere mention that Judge J. A. Carlisle would prepare for the ladies of the Earnst Workers Society one of his famous fish chowders, which has made him famous throughout this entire section, was enough to make the public hungry, and as a result the Earnst Workers reaped a handsome profit from their supper on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday.

It was intended to have an oyster supper and chowder, and an order for the bivalves and fish had been sent to Cedar Key in ample time, but the weather conditions on the Gulf seemed against them, and the ladies received a telegram late Tuesday that it would be impossible to secure the oysters.

The fish came, however, and were cooked into a chowder the like of which has never been tasted in Gainesville before. The genial Judge, desirous of making a hit, gave the chowder the best of attention, being assisted by T. L. Boulware, and when it was finished and ready to serve it may be said that nothing better of its kind was ever placed in a bowl.

While the patrons of the affair were deprived of the oysters, except a few which were kindly furnished the ladies by Theo. Hudgins of the El Dorado Cafe and L. M. McCormick of the Continental, there were other refreshments, and altogether those who attended were satisfied.

Quite a nice sum was realized, for which the ladies are thankful. The proceeds will be devoted to the church repair fund.

At The Opera House.

A fair audience greeted the Andrews Opera Company at the opera house last night to witness the presentation of the five-act grand opera, "Martha."

Although the company was a small one, there being no chorus, the voices were very good, and the production was carried through in a most creditable manner. The music of the play was especially fine, and was appreciated by those who understood music thoroughly.

J. J. Finley Chapter.

The Daughters of this Chapter are requested to meet in called session Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. M. S. Admison. Mrs. JOHN M. TAYLOR, Recording Secretary pro tem.

For Marshal.

I respectfully announce my candidacy for the office of City Marshal at the election on April 9th, 1907. If elected I shall perform the duties of the office without fear or favor.

HIGH SPRINGS NOTES.

Public School in Flourishing Condition.
New Piano Installed

High Springs, Jan. 23.—The High Springs school is in a flourishing condition, as shown by the good attendance and increased interest of the pupils. Under the able management of Miss Mann, principal, and her efficient corps of teachers, Miss McWhorter, Mrs. Dean, and Miss McCredie, the school has done good work this term, and the patrons are very anxious to supplement the appropriation to the extent of having the full term. Few schools in the State have a school building equal to the one here and we are justly proud of it.

The one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee was appropriately observed by all the pupils of the High Springs school. The exercises were conducted in the Auditorium, and a very good program, consisting of patriotic songs, recitations and music, was rendered. This was followed by a brief but very interesting address by Rev. J. L. Yeats of the M. E. church. A number of visitors were present who expressed themselves as delighted with the entire program.

Through the earnest and energetic efforts of Mrs. W. N. Gramling, assisted by the patrons of the school, a fine new piano has been purchased and placed in the auditorium of the High Springs school for the benefit of the pupils, and to be the property of the school. The teachers say they can already see the good effects of music in the school. Too much praise cannot be given Mrs. Gramling for this work. She was at first confronted with difficulties which would have discouraged most persons, but, with the good of the school at heart, she has been untiring in her efforts and has now gained the support and appreciation of the entire patronage.

The pupils in the High Springs school are preparing for an entertainment which will excel all efforts in this line. It will be given in the auditorium Friday evening, February 1, and will be the concluding exercises for Arbor Day. The New Century Club will also observe the day by planting trees with appropriate ceremony, an address and other exercises. The pupils of the school will join with them in this highly commendable undertaking.

SLAUGHTER ESTREATED BOND

Was to Have Appeared at Last Term of Circuit Court.

Because he did not answer to his name when a case was called against him on the civil docket at the last term of the circuit court in and for Alachua county, S. J. Slaughter of Wannee, well known throughout the West End, is in prison, having been arrested at his home by Deputy Sheriff I. C. Walker Tuesday and brought to Gainesville, where he must either re-arrange a bond or spend the time in prison until the next session of the circuit court, which will be held in May.

Several months ago the defendant was arraigned in the county judge's court upon a charge of selling mortgaged property, the plaintiff being H. C. Parker of LaCrosse. Slaughter gave bond for his appearance at the fall term of the circuit court and was released, but failed to appear at the proper time.

COLD STORAGE IS A BIG SUCCESS

One of the Greatest Blessings the Alachua County Farmer Has.

PUTS MEAT IN CONDITION

To be Properly Cured, and Farmers Are Rejoicing Over the New Process Which Saves Their Hams and Shoulders—Large Amount in Storage.

Notwithstanding that few realize its immensity, the cold storage plant of the Diamond Ice Co., erected about three years ago on an extensive scale in this city, is one of the most important of Gainesville's industries, and one of the greatest accommodations the farmer has. It has furnished him with the means, at small expense, and without trouble or responsibility, of placing his meat on cold storage and properly curing the same.

This industry was started by the promoters, who believed that, though it would be necessary to educate the farmers up to the necessity and advantage of storage, it would eventually prove a mutual benefit, and they were correct, for each year finds the old patrons bringing more, and new patrons coming in.

This industry was begun on a small scale, because of the fact that an extensive plant would not only prove a financial failure, but a great incidental expense in the matter of keeping up the proper temperature. Only a few hundred pounds of meat were stored the first year, but the experiment was so satisfactory that the following year there were several thousand pounds. Last year this cold storage became so popular and successful that the big rooms, notwithstanding additions had been made, were entirely inadequate to accommodate those who brought their meat, with the result that during the past summer Manager Livingston built an addition which more than doubled the capacity.

This has been a banner year for meat, notwithstanding the prevailing warm weather, and there is now on cold storage in Gainesville about 75,000 pounds of hams and shoulders. This is another evidence that the farmer of Alachua county is determined not to go hungry before the frost falls again.

STREETS BEING SWEEPED.

Removal of Trash and Leaves Makes Big Difference in Appearance.

The work of cleaning the streets of the city by means of sweeping the trash and leaves accumulated for the past few weeks, is being pushed rapidly, and the appearance of the principal thoroughfares has been greatly improved by the energy of the street committee.

The improvement is mostly noticeable on Liberty, Union and other streets which are paved with rock and shell, as the trash seems to be more prominent on these thoroughfares.

It was a long time before the citizens and City Council began to realize the fact that good streets and sidewalks, and clean ones as well, were among the most important factors of a city's development; but they are now fully convinced of this fact, and are using every energy to bring about the desired effect in this direction.

The granite sidewalks have added a great deal to the city, and already Gainesville is advertised everywhere for its magnificent and uniform walks.

CULPEPPER MEETINGS.

Good Congregations Greeted Revivalist at Both Services Yesterday.

Good congregations greeted Rev. J. B. Culpepper, who has opened a series of meetings in the First Methodist Church, yesterday afternoon and evening, and those who attended felt much the better for being present.

There were in the congregation, especially at the evening service, many who had the pleasure of meeting the great revivalist many years ago, when, by his efforts, a religious storm swept this city, and several hundred converts professed faith. Mr. Culpepper is a fine and impressive speaker, and will no doubt stir the religious sentiment with great effect during the present meeting.

Services will be held daily at 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m., and a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

NEWMAN LAKE TARPON.

A Monster Fish Hooked and Captured by George P. Morris Tuesday.

Quite a surprise awaited the fishing party composed of Geo. P. Morris, E. W. Millican, and others, at Newman's Lake Tuesday morning, when Mr. Morris hooked and captured an enormous tarpon measuring five feet, eight inches, at the mouth of Hatchet creek. Messrs. Morris and Millican were fishing from a small boat, and the instant the monster fish caught the line there was "something doing," as the fish did not apparently appreciate the idea of swallowing a hook. Fortunately the line was a stout one, and for a few moments the speed with which that skiff skipped through the water would have made a motor boat look like a snail beside a frightened hare. However, the fish was soon exhausted, and when landed the anglers were surprised to find an immense tarpon—the first of its kind ever caught from the lake. When weighed the fish tipped the beam at 185 pounds. It was dressed and divided among the party, who took their respective share home.

Mr. Morris, fearing that this story might be discredited, brought a number of the scales home with him, which he can produce in evidence.

Chronic Constipation Cured.

One who suffers from chronic constipation is in danger of many serious ailments. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation as it aids digestion and stimulates the liver and bowels, restoring the natural action of these organs. Commence taking it today and you will feel better at once. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is very pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. J. W. McCollum & Co.

A Tour of Inspection.

The members of the Board of Public Works "took a day off" Wednesday for the purpose of making a tour of inspection of the various work being constructed under their supervision. No report was made, but it is supposed the report will be forthcoming at the next session of the City Council.

DORMOUSE DELICACIES.

Titbits That Were Relished in Ancient Roman Times.

Brawn was originally a Roman dish and was eaten with garum, and cow's and calf's foot jellies were likewise dainties with Rome's upper ten in the time of the emperors. One would hardly suppose that such puddings were so old as the reign of Tiberius, but this is the fact. They were made of pig's blood, with little cubes of fat interspersed in the compound, and were the invention of a gentleman who rejoiced in the name of Bambonesvergus. It was he who invented all kinds of sausages—that is, meat stuffed into skins, which, we take it, is the ground plan, so to speak, of a sausage.

This gentleman also wrote a learned treatise on the fattening of dormice for the table, for at one period dormice were a craze. There were dormouse soup, dormouse sausage, dormouse brawn, dormouse cooked in every conceivable way, and the demand for this delicacy in prize sizes was so great that there was room for a book on the subject, though unfortunately this book is lost to posterity, and the only knowledge which we have of the fattening of dormice in Rome is from Petronius Arbiter, who tells us that they became fat by sleeping.

He also tells us that the best sauce to eat with dormouse is a mixture of poppy seed and honey, a mixture which probably had the merit of inducing sleep after a meal.

BEWARE OF "DIGESTIVES."

The Only Way to Cure Stomach Disorders is by Strengthening the Digestive Organs.

The ordinary pepsin tablet has ruined more stomachs than all other causes combined. While it gives temporary relief, it leaves the digestive system weaker than ever, and the tablets must be continued with increased frequency.

The only way to permanently cure stomach troubles is by strengthening the digestive organs with a Mi-o-na stomach tablet taken before meals. In this way the remedy prepares the stomach for the food and excites the secretion of gastric juices so that, when the food is eaten, the stomach is prepared to digest it.

If Mi-o-na was a mere digestive, it would be taken after eating, so as to mix with the food, but then permanent relief would not be gained.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold only in a neat metal box, convenient for the purse or vest pocket, and cost but 50c. J. W. McCollum & Co. have seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na stomach tablets that they give a guarantee with every box that the money will be refunded if the remedy fails to give satisfaction. You run no risk in using Mi-o-na, for you are sure to be cured at trifling expense, or else your money will be returned.

A Little Sarcasm.

An old woman went into a grocer's and ordered a pennyworth of carrots. After being served she inquired, "D'ye not throw something in wi' them?" "Oh, yis," replied the greengrocer; "if ye wait a minute I'll throw in a sack o' titties an' a barrel o' apples an' a hundredweight o' turnips an' a box o' oranges! An'!" he shouted as the old woman flounced out of the shop, "when I'm busy I'll throw in the horse an' cart! If yer not satisfied then, come back for the shop!"—London Mail.

THE LAND OF ROMANCE.

Spain and the Peculiar Temperament of Its People.

If I were asked to sum up the dominant impression that the survival in Spain of the old world mediaevalism makes, I should say that Spain is in the precise and specific sense of the word the home of romance. The special character of the Spanish temperament and of Spanish developments in literature and in art is marked by a quality, rising and sinking with the rise and fall of Gothic, which we call the romantic spirit—a mixture, that is, of the mysterious and grandiose with the grotesquely bizarre of the soaringly ideal with the crudely real, a mixture which to us today has the cunning fascination of art, but was really on both sides the natural outcome of the experiences and feelings of the men who created it. This romantic spirit was once the common possession of all Christendom, but the Spanish temperament peculiarly lent itself to the romantic attitude, and it is in Spain today that we may catch its final vanishing echoes. It is the church, always the most powerful stronghold of tradition among any people, which enables the stranger most vividly to realize how well the romantic spirit has been preserved in Spain. Notwithstanding invasions from without and revolutions from within, especially during the early years of the last century, Spain is still the country where the mediaeval spirit of romantic devotion is most splendidly embodied and preserved.—Havelock Ellis in Atlantic.

Dangers of a Cold and How to Avoid Them.

More fatalities have their origin in or result from a cold than from any other cause. This fact alone should make people more careful as there is no danger whatever from a cold when it is properly treated in the beginning. For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been recognized as the most prompt and effectual medicine in use for this disease. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by all druggists.

Remedy For Excess in Eating.

A hint to those who may thoughtlessly at some time or other indulge in excess in eating. If this indiscretion is committed, especially in high seasoned things with rich sauces, a draft of cold water acidulated with lemon juice will take off the sense of weight at the stomach and assist the digestive process by moderating the alimentary fermentation.

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

Promises to the Dying.

A clergyman, discussing unhappy love affairs, said:

"Many a love tragedy is caused by a husband's promise to a dying wife that he will not marry again. He thinks when he makes this promise that it will be easy to keep. Whether it is easy or hard to keep, it is a promise rarely if ever broken. Time and time again widowers have sought me out for advice on this subject. They are in love, but they promised their dead wives not to marry again. Shall they break or keep this promise? I can only advise them to do as their conscience dictates. At the same time I think it is selfish of dying wives to extract such promises from their broken hearted husbands. Such promises, by the way, are rarely extracted by dying husbands from broken hearted wives. But, then, when the dead husband's will is read it is usually found that if the widow marries again the money is all taken from her. So it comes to the same thing in the end, doesn't it?"—New York Press.

Wise Counsel From the South.

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship, of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles I was completely cured—so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. Price 50c.

Mexican Musicians.

We were listening to the playing of a military band the other night when my friend said: "Do you know that, although I have heard just about all of the best orchestras and bands in this country at different times, I have not discovered a single one that can hold a candle to Mexican musicians? Those fellows are something wonderful, all full of music, and, although half of them cannot read the language of their country, they read the music and get notes from their instruments that would really astonish you."—Columbus Dispatch.

Mr. August Sherpe, the popular overseer of the poor at Fort Madison, Ia., says: "Dr. King's New Life Pills are rightly named; they act more agreeably, do more good and make one feel better than any other laxative." Guaranteed to cure biliousness and constipation. 25c at all drug stores.

Reasonable Request.

"The trouble," said the dentist as he probed away at the aching molar with a long, slender instrument, "is evidently due to a dying nerve."

"Well," groaned the victim. "It's open to you to treat the dying with a little more respect."

A Member May Drink There, but Is Not Allowed to Eat.

The British house of commons has its own code in regard to the partaking of liquid and solid refreshments. A member making a long speech may take a drink, and the house is liberal enough not to care whether the color of the contents of the glass is white or brown or black, whether, in fact, the glass holds water or whisky or beer. Mr. Gladstone's egg dips, which his wife carefully compounded for him and he brought to the house in a bottle, are classic.

But woe be to the man who scorns drink and must have meat. Contemporary recollection only recalls one member rash enough to disregard this rule. It was a number of years ago, in the stormy time of the house rule debates, that an Irish member, in the small hours of the morning, produced from his pocket a paper bag and drew out a bun, which he proceeded calmly to eat. The house was instantly in an uproar. There were loud cries of "Order! Order!" and that bun was never finished.

No member may read a newspaper in the house. If he had the temerity to smoke, the sergeant at arms would quickly place him under lock and key.—Appleton's Magazine.

Why

should your baby suffer? When he is fretful and restless don't experiment on him and use any old thing your neighbor recommends. Buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, greatest known medicine and cure for all children's diseases. It is mild in its action, builds up the system, makes thin puny babies fat. Mrs. J. C. Smith, Tampa, Fla., writes: "My baby was thin and sickly, could not retain its food and cried all night. I used one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and in a few days baby was laughing, happy and well." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Mexican Church Legends.

Queretaro was a town before the Spanish conquest and was made a city in 1655. A legend of Queretaro is that an Otomite chief, Fernando de Tapia by name, undertook to convert the city to Christianity in a way that seems novel to us, but was common enough to his day. He came from Tula with a challenge to the people of Queretaro to a fair stand up fight. If he won, the people surviving were to be baptized. The challenge was accepted, but while the fight was in progress a dark cloud came up and the blessed Santiago was seen in the heavens with a fiery cross, whereupon the people of Queretaro gave up and were baptized. They set up a stone cross to commemorate the event on the site of the present church of Santa Cruz. There is scarcely a church in Mexico which has not a legend of this kind attached to it.

Cured of Lung Trouble.

"It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds, and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Legislature to convene at Tallahassee, Fla., in April, 1907, for amendment of Chapter 5497, Laws of Florida, Acts of 1905, being entitled "An act extending and enlarging the territorial limits and the powers of the city of Gainesville, a municipal corporation organized and existing in Alachua county, Florida, and providing for the exercise of those powers."

MERCURY DOES NOT CURE BLOOD POISON

While Mercury and Potash may mask the disease in the system and cover up the outward symptoms for awhile, they cannot cure Contagious Blood Poison; when the treatment is left off, the disease will return worse than before. Mercury and Potash eat out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, produce chronic dyspepsia, cause the teeth to decay, make spongy, tender gums, affect the bones and nerves, and often cause Mercurial Rheumatism, the most hopeless form of this disease. Thousands have taken the mineral treatment faithfully for years to find, when it was left off, that the disease had only been smoldering in the system, and the old symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, falling hair, copper-colored spots, swollen glands, sores and ulcers, etc., would return in all their hideousness, and they were no nearer a cure than when they first commenced the treatment. S. S. S. is the only certain, safe and reliable treatment for Contagious Blood Poison. It is the one medicine that is able to go into the blood and cure the disease permanently, and without injury to any part of the system. S. S. S. does not cover up anything, but so completely removes the poison that no trace of it is ever seen again. This medicine will also remove any bad effects left by previous mineral treatment. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks; we offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that it contains a particle of mineral in any form. Write for our home treatment book, and if you desire special medical advice, our physicians will be glad to furnish it, as well as the book, free of charge.

A JUST COMPLAINT.

An Instance of How Our People Are Robbed by Electric Company.

Editor Sun: I doubt if there could be found in the whole South another city whose people are so patient and so long-suffering as are those of Gainesville, as witness the fact that they have so long endured without protest the outrageously exorbitant rates imposed upon them and the often outrageously unreasonable monthly bills run up against them by the Gainesville Gas and Electric Light Company, a foreign corporation that in its treatment of them has shown itself to be without either reason or conscience. There is a point, however, beyond which patience becomes servility and endurance is transformed into pusillanimity—a point beyond which no true and self-respecting people will go—and that point our people have about reached in this electric light matter.

But not only is this foreign corporation with its extortionate rates and its insolent disregard of right fattening upon the plundered interests of our private citizens and our private business enterprises, but it is today one of the greatest if not the only stumbling block in the way of the city's growth and development. People move into towns for the comforts and conveniences to be found there; but how can we with good conscience urge people to settle in our city and place themselves at the mercy of this merciless and greedy corporation that seems to regard increase of population only as so much more food for its rapacious maw? Many growing towns in the South are now advertising as their chief attractions cheap lights and fair treatment—a thing we can never do so long as we are content to remain in the power of this insatiable and conscienceless corporation with its monopoly of two leading essentials of modern civilization, electricity and gas.

The city is contributing to this monopoly the use of its streets—furnishing it the ground without which it could not do business; and what compensation does it get for it? Nothing, unless the robbery of its citizens may be considered in the light of a compensation. I use the term robbery deliberately and advisedly. I am not airing a private grievance, but I will use a personal illustration to show such of our citizens as have not yet found out for themselves, just what they may expect from this corporation. It has an arbitrary rule to the effect that if a bill is not paid on or before a certain day each month, 10 per cent of the bill is added on; that is, a bill of $10, if not paid by a certain day, becomes $11.

Now everybody in Gainesville knows that I pay my bills and meet all my obligations. No man can truthfully say he ever presented me a just bill and was refused payment. A few days ago this monopoly presented me a bill for last month of $43. In explanation of the size of the bill I was informed that 10 per cent had been added on because the bill had not been settled some few days before. Upon my refusing to pay this fine, or rather to submit to being robbed of something like $4, my lights were cut out and my residence and place of business left in darkness. I have given freely of my time and money to the upbuilding of the city of Gainesville, in which I was born and raised, and am not an inconsiderable contributor to its tax fund; and it does seem that this act of this foreign corporation, that never has and never will contribute of its own accord a dollar to the city's upbuilding, and that is located here simply as a leech to feed and fatten on the life-blood of the city—this act, which was as high-handed an attempt at robbery as was ever perpetrated by a highwayman, should not have been possible in a city like Gainesville that ought to protect her citizens against such. What this foreign and greedy corporation has tried to do for me it will do for any other citizen. How long are the citizens of Gainesville going to submit to such, especially since they have in their own hands the ready means of redress and remedy?

How long could one even of our oldest business men continue to do business here with us if each month he added 10 per cent to all bills that were not settled by the 10th or 15th, or some specified day? What we would not countenance in one of our own people, shall we tamely endure from an insolent foreign corporation because it has a monopoly of a certain necessity? It is the monopoly that makes it arbitrary and insolent, coupled with the fact that it has no interest in the city except in so far as it can squeeze the life-blood out of the people. For brazen impudence and high-handed extortion this monopoly is the limit.

We are paying an extortionate rate for our lights; but that is not all. It seems there's something wrong with the meters, or the way they are read. A reliable citizen informs me that one month the lights were turned on but three times in his place of business, and yet at the end of that month he was presented with a bill of $11.00 for electricity consumed! That is only one, and I don't know how many instances of a similar kind.

We do not need to cite the fact that other cities the size of Gainesville are getting their lights for less than half of what we are paying, to convict this greedy monopoly of extortion. I can give an illustration that will make them convict themselves. When the Graham electric light company was doing business, I had a contract with them to furnish my lights, residence and place of business, for $100.00 a year. Under this contract I could burn my lights as long as I chose and have as many as I needed. That I was not being undercharged will be evident when I state that this new company offered to give me a cheaper rate than the old company was giving me. But now that they have a monopoly, they want to charge me over $400 for what they offered me for less than $100.

How much longer, I ask again, are our people going to submit to be insulted and robbed by a foreign corporation when they hold in their hands a perfect and easily applied remedy? We must break this chain if we expect to thrive and grow. So long as we tamely submit, the burden will be made heavier and heavier.

Yours truly,
W. R. THOMAS.

THE SCHOOL BOOK TRUST.

The following editorial meets with our hearty endorsement. The Times-Union says:

"There is perhaps not a sphere of activity in the whole country in which there is more room for believing in the existence of unfair tactics at the expense of the common citizen than in the supplying of books to school children," says The Tampa Times, in the course of an editorial. "Every effort to simplify and cheapen it is fought with the utmost energy and with much wisdom—it would be called graft in some less sacred avocation." While Roosevelt preaches against "race suicide" the book trust furnishes arguments that seem to make it desirable. Soon it will be true that in Florida only a wealthy man can afford to have his house full of children. Hernando county sets an example to the State in furnishing school books to the children free. If the practice of that county could not be followed by the State there is the other example of Georgia, which fixes the maximum price at which the various books may be sold."

The editor of the Fruit and Truck Grower is somewhat familiar with the Uniform School Book bill introduced in the Florida Legislature of 1903 by Senator McCreary and the two in 1905, one by Senator McCreary and the other by Senator Crane. The present condition of affairs is a disgrace to Florida. Practically all of the States in the South have adopted some such measure that would save the patron of the school from 25 to 60 per cent. A remarkable and most unpleasant feature of the situation lies in the opposition and of which more will be said in the future—Florida Fruit and Truck Grower.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR LETTERS PATENT.

Notice is hereby given that on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1907, the undersigned will apply to His Excellency, Napoleon B. Broward, Governor of the State of Florida, for Letters Patent on the Charter proposed accompanying this notice.

Under and pursuant to the requirements of the Statutes of the State of Florida, we, the undersigned, O. W. Chase, Clarence B. Strouse, E. E. Cannon and J. E. Graham, desiring for ourselves, our associates and successors, to form and be incorporated as a corporation, do hereby give notice that we shall apply to the Governor of the State of Florida for Letters Patent.

THE PROPOSED CHARTER IS AS FOLLOWS:

First—The corporate name of said corporation shall be "THE AMERICAN FLANGE FROG AND RAILWAY IMPROVEMENT COMPANY," located and having its place of business at Gainesville, Florida, and such other place or places of business as may, from time to time, be designated by the Board of Directors.

Second—The general nature of the business to be transacted and the purposes and objects for which this corporation is organized are: the manufacture and sale of the "Graham flange frog," and other railway appliances; the purchase and sale of foreign and domestic patents; to buy, mortgage, sell or deal in real estate and personal property; to engage in any and all manufacturing enterprises and industries, that may be managed, owned or controlled by a corporation of this character; to conduct, own, manage, acquire or operate any and every kind and character of business that may be conducted, owned, managed, acquired or operated by a corporation of this character under the laws of Florida now existing or hereinafter enacted, and generally to do all things necessary and proper for carrying on said business or to protect and advance the interest thereof, and for these purposes to have and possess all the rights, benefits, privileges and immunities incident to and given under the laws of this State to a corporation of such character.

Third—The amount of the capital stock of said corporation shall be Five Million Dollars, to be divided into Fifty Thousand shares, at a par value of One Hundred Dollars each, payable in lawful money of the United States, or in property, patents, franchises, labor or services, at a just valuation to be fixed by the incorporators, or by the directors at a meeting called for such purpose.

Fourth—This corporation shall exist for a period of ninety-nine years, and its corporate existence shall commence on the date of the issuance of Letters Patent.

Fifth—The business of this corporation is to be conducted by a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, and a board of not less than three nor more than thirteen Directors, of which Board of Directors the President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer shall be members. The offices of Secretary and Treasurer may be held by one and the same person. The officers and directors shall be elected annually at the annual stockholders' meeting, the first of which shall be in the company's general office in Gainesville, Florida, at two o'clock p.m. on the second Thursday in February, 1907, and annually thereafter, and until such first election the names of the officers who are to conduct the business of the corporation, until those elected at the first election shall be qualified, are as follows: O. W. Chase, President; Clarence B. Strouse, Vice-President; E. E. Cannon, Secretary and Treasurer. The Board of Directors shall be: C. W. Chase, Clarence B. Strouse and E. E. Cannon, until their successors shall be elected and qualify. The number constituting the Board of Directors may be changed and fixed by the stockholders at any meeting called for that purpose, provided that said board shall not consist of less than three nor more than thirteen members.

Sixth—The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which said corporation can at any time subject itself shall not exceed the amount of the capital stock authorized under this charter.

Seventh—The names and residence of the subscribers are: C. W. Chase, Gainesville, Florida; E. E. Cannon, Gainesville, Florida; Clarence B. Strouse, Salem, Virginia; J. E. Graham, Salem, Virginia.

Eighth—The subscribing incorporators to wit: C. W. Chase, Clarence B. Strouse, E. E. Cannon, J. E. Graham, have subscribed for the following amount of stock set opposite their names respectively:

C. W. Chase, twelve hundred and fifty shares.

Clarence B. Strouse, twelve hundred and fifty shares.

J. E. Graham, twenty-five hundred shares.

E. E. Cannon, two hundred and fifty shares.

The amount of stock so subscribed exceeds ten per cent of the capital stock authorized under this charter.

Ninth—The above and foregoing charter is subscribed to by the following persons, to wit:

C. W. CHASE
CLARENCE B. STROUSE,
E. E. CANNON,
J. E. GRAHAM

W. Chase, Clarence B. Strouse, E. E. Cannon and J. E. Graham, who being first sworn each for himself says and acknowledges that he signed the above and foregoing charter in the manner and for the uses and purposes therein set forth and expressed, and that the above signature is his signature.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my notarial seal at Gainesville, Florida, on this 8th day of January, A. D. 1907.

W. S. BROOME,
Notary Public, State of Florida at large. My commission expires 14th December, 1908.

MASTER'S SALE.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a final decree of foreclosure and sale made and rendered by the Honorable James T. Wills, Judge of the Eighth Judicial Circuit of Florida in and for Alachua county, in Chancery, on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1906, in a certain cause therein pending wherein L. A. Vidal is complainant and Tabby Paulding, Charles Paulding and Lewis Paulding, Susie Bell and Charles Bell are defendants, I have levied upon and will offer for sale at public outcry, and will sell to the highest bidder for cash, before the court house door in said Alachua county, in the city of Gainesville, on the first Monday in February, A. D. 1907, the same being the 4th day of said month and a legal sales day, the property described in said final decree as follows, to wit:

Beginning at the Southeast corner of Phil Rutledge's tract, running North 6 chains and 84 links to a stake, thence East 15 chains and 81 links to a stake, thence South 6 chains and 84 links to a stake, thence West 15 chains and 81 links to point of beginning; the above described property lying and being in Section 25, Township 9, Range 18 containing 16 acres. Also, that tract in Section twenty-five (25) Township nine (9), Range eighteen (18), beginning at the Northeast corner of Stephen Taylor's tract of land in said Section, running West 12 72 chains to a stake, thence North 9 79 chains to a stake, thence East 12 72 chains to a stake, thence South 9 79 chains to point of beginning, containing twelve (12) acres of land, more or less, all of said lands lying and being in Alachua county, Florida. Together with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

UNPROFITABLE FEEDING

Intelligent stock raisers know that a certain amount of feed is necessary to keep an animal alive. They might feed that amount as long as it lives, and it would never gain a pound.

There is no profit in that kind of feeding. The kind that pays is the kind that builds flesh rapidly. If it takes twenty pounds of food each day to keep a sheep alive, twenty-five pounds a day will make it gain flesh. It's the extra five that brings the profit. The first five pounds amounts to nothing, nor does the second or third or fourth five pounds.

It's the same way with advertising. You have to do a certain amount to overcome the resistance of the public.

You have to do a certain amount of advertising to make them wake up to the fact that you are in business at all. You have to pay a certain amount to keep your advertising alive. What you pay above that amount brings profit.

Some advertisers fail because they do not use enough space. They use barely enough or sometimes not quite enough to make the advertising self sustaining. A little bit more would make it profitable. It is better to advertise a little too much than not quite enough.—Charles Austin Bates.

Some of our advertisers could enlarge their space with profit.

HOW WATER ACTS.

Expansion and Contraction and Its Solvent Powers.

Water contracts as it falls from the normal boiling point, 212 degrees, until it reaches 39 degrees. Below that degree it expands, and at 32 degrees, the freezing point, it will expand enough to burst pipes and vessels holding it.

When the pressure of the air is below normal, water boils at a lower temperature than 212 degrees. This is noticed before a rain, when the barometer shows by a falling mercury a decreased air pressure. This also explains why water boils away more rapidly, quickly or at a lower temperature in the mountains, where the pressure of the air is less than on the seacoast or in the valleys. If sugar or salt is added to water the temperature of the boiling point is raised a few degrees. As a rule, as water is heated it will hold a greater amount of a substance in solution. A familiar exception is the fact that ice water will dissolve twice as much lime as boiling water. At the other extreme boiling water will dissolve seventeen times as much saltpeter as will cold water. But water varies in its solvent powers regardless of heat. One pound of water will hold two pounds of sugar in solution, but only two ounces of common salt.

Frankincense.

Frankincense is the purest of all incense. It is a gum resin from an Arabian terebinth. To obtain this a deep incision is made in the trunk and below it a narrow strip of bark peeled off. When the exudation has hardened, the incision is deepened. In about three months the resin has acquired a sufficient degree of consistency. It is gathered in large quantities and packed in goatskins. It was formerly believed that the trees which yielded frankincense were infested by winged serpents, and the only way to be rid of them and to get at the treasure was by burning gum styrax, an odoriferous balsam of aromatic smell. Frankincense was forbidden to be used for embalming, as it was sacred to sacrificial purposes. The Israelites were strictly prohibited from compounding it. Now it is used largely in Roman Catholic and high church ceremonies.

A Jamaica Lady Speaks Highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Mrs. Michael Hart, wife of the superintendent of Cart Service of Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies Islands, says that she has for some years used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, croup and whooping cough and has found it very beneficial. She has implicit confidence in it and would not be without a bottle of it in her house. Sold by all druggists.

Misjudged.

The manager of an office had advertised for an office boy. In consequence he was annoyed for an hour by a straggling line of boys of all sizes, claiming various accomplishments. "Well," he said to a late applicant "I suppose you can read anything, and write anything, and figure a little, and use the typewriter a little, and—"

"Now," interrupted the boy. "If I could do all these things I'd strike you for your own job. I ain't nothin' but an office boy."

He got the position. Bohemian.

A BOLD PROJECT.

The Scheme by Which Malet Nearly Captured Paris in 1812.

A bold scheme was that engineered by Malet, a Frenchman. Malet had been a republican general, was ruined by the rise of Napoleon, betook himself to plotting, was arrested and finally put in a madhouse. During the emperor's absence in Russia in 1812 Malet escaped one night from his prison, obtained a general's uniform and with an accomplice dressed as an abbot, made his way to the prison of La Force, where the unsuspecting governor released on his command two other ex-republicans, Generals Laborie and Guidel, prisoners on a like charge to his own. Together they proceeded to a neighboring barracks, announced to the commandant that Napoleon was dead and that they were acting by the decree of the senate, ordered the troops to be paraded and dispatched bodies of men upon various duties. Some arrested Savary, the minister of police; others the police prefect. Another battalion seized the Hotel de Ville. Everybody obeyed Malet implicitly, even the prefect of the Seine, and he would undoubtedly have gained possession of Paris had he not been recognized by Laborie, chief of the military police, as an escaped prisoner. He was arrested after a scuffle, the plot was unraveled, and in due course Malet, with twenty-three of his abettors, was shot.

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by all druggists.

Famous Collection of Antlers.

Of the famous collections of antlers formed in the seventeenth century only two or three have escaped the general fate of confiscations, sieges and pillage. One of these is in Moritzburg, the king of Saxony's historical hunting castle, near Dresden, while in the celebrated gun gallery in Dresden itself are to be seen in an unrivaled show the wonderfully inlaid arms used by the elector. The great banquet hall of the castle of Moritzburg is one of the sights with which no doubt many a traveled reader has been charmed. It is a chamber of noble proportions, sixty-six feet long by thirty-four wide and thirty-eight feet high. On its otherwise unadorned white walls hang seventy-one pairs of magnificent antlers, which one may describe as the most famous of their kind in the world. Not a single one carries less than twenty-four times or is less than 200 years old, while some are probably double that age.

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." J. W. McCollum & Co.

A Celebrated Clock.

The art of the clockmaker has achieved many remarkable triumphs during many centuries. Sometimes it is a clock wonderful for the complexity of its movements and its huge population of intricate parts that attracts our admiration, like the great Cathedral of Strasbourg. At other times the immense size of the machinery and the delicacy of its adjustment. This is the case with the celebrated clock in the tower of the Church of St. Rombaut at Mechlin. A writer in La Nature thinks this clock possesses the largest dial that exists in the world. There are four of them, one on each side of the great square tower, and their extreme diameter is nearly thirty-seven and one-half feet. The figures showing the hours are nearly six and one-half feet high, and the hands have a length of nearly twelve feet.

The Joy

of living is to have good health. Use Herbine and you will have bushels of joy. You need not be blue, fretful and have that bad taste in your mouth. Try a bottle of Herbine, a positive cure for all liver complaints. E. Harrell, Austin, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for over a year, and find it a fine regulator. I gladly recommend it as a fine medicine for dyspepsia."

Heat on Tobacco Improves it Like Roasting Improves Green Coffee. Heat Develops the Stimulating Aroma and Taste found in Schnapps Tobacco and Coffee

Three ways are used by farmers for curing and preparing their tobacco for the market; namely sun cured, air cured and flue cured. The old and cheap way is called air cured; the later discovery and improved way is called flue cured.

In flue curing the tobacco is taken from the fields and racked in barns especially built to retain heat and there subjected to a continuous high temperature, produced by the direct heat of flame heated flues, which brings out in the tobacco that stimulating taste and aroma that expert roasting develops in green coffee. These similar processes give to both tobacco and coffee the cheering and stimulating quality that popularizes their use.

The quality of tobacco depends much on the curing process and the kind of soil that produces it, as expert tests prove that this flue cured tobacco, grown in the famous Piedmont region, requires and takes less sweetening than tobacco grown in any other section of the United States and has a wholesome, stimulating, juicy, full tobacco taste that satisfies tobacco hunger. That's why chewers prefer Schnapps, because Schnapps cheers more than any other chewing tobacco, and that's why chewers of Schnapps pass the good thing along—one chewer makes other chewers, until the fact is established that there are more chewers and more pounds of tobacco chewed to the population in states where Schnapps tobacco is sold than there are in those states where Schnapps has not yet been offered to the trade.

A 10c. plug of Schnapps is more economical than a much larger 10c. plug of cheap tobacco. Sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. cuts. Strictly 10 and 15 cent plugs.

The Lay of the Hen.

Investigation of the capacity of hens to lay eggs results in the discovery that the egg production of hens decreases considerably after the age of four years. Thus a hen lays at the age of one year about 20 eggs; at the age of two years, about 120; at the age of three years, about 135; at the age of four years, about 115; at the age of five years, about 80, and at the age of six years, about 60. These figures go to show that hens should never be kept in the poultry yard more than four years, for after the lapse of this time they do not yield a proper return on the food they consume.

A Thousand Dollars Worth of Good.

A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O., writes: "I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder troubles for years, passing gravel and stones with excruciating pain. I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure; then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust like fine stones and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1,000 worth of good." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Great Value of Honey.

"Honey, one of the most nutritious and delicate of foods, should be eaten more than it is," writes a cooking expert. "Bought in the comb, it is bound to be unadulterated and will keep one free from sore throat and bronchial troubles. I know a number of ladies who use honey as a cosmetic. They apply it to the skin, rub it in well, then wash it off with hot water. The result is a finer complexion, a glowing color, a young, fresh look."—Birmingham Post.
